About the Programme

In this highly globalized world, English Language, the universal lingua franca, has become a vital tool for communication. A good command over English has thus become a decisive factor in the realm of higher education and employability. Therefore, it is imperative that higher education caters to the global needs and employability skills of students. The growing demand for Communicative English courses among students justifies this webinar which attempts to focus on strengthening the language proficiency of undergraduate students so as to enable them to perform competently and confidently in competitive exams and interviews.
